AUSTRALIA FAIR HUGH STRETTON

- A controversial book that will inspire much debate.
- A major work from one of Australia's leading and influential thinkers.
- Highly relevant and topical – it's more forward-looking than most books by much younger authors!
- A national media campaign

One of Australia's leading thinkers draws on a lifetime of research, analysis and commonsense in his blueprint for making a better Australia.

Hugh Stretton argues that it is possible to contrive full and fairly shared employment for everyone, to enable most households to own or rent adequate household space and obtain the capital they need to do the things they want to do. He argues that we can continue women's progress to genuine equality at home and at work and reconcile it with parenting that elicits the best from and for our children. He shows that we can determine how best to transfer income to non-earning years. Finally, the book shows that we can fairly share the use of natural resources. Ambitious but practical, the book sets out a plan for achieving these goals.

AUSTRALIAN SOCIAL ATTITUDES: THE FIRST REPORT

SHAUN WILSON (ed.), GABRIELLE MEAGHER (ed.),
RACHEL GIBSON (ed.), DAVID DENEMARK (ed.)

- The first major report on Australian social attitudes

A fascinating insight into what Australians think about contemporary political and social issues using data collected from the inaugural Australian Survey of Social Attitudes on the expressed opinions of some 4300 Australian adults. An excellent resource for students, teachers, researchers and policy makers, and for anyone interested in understanding the social dynamics of contemporary Australia.

REFRAMING ART

MICHAEL CARTER, ADAM GECZY

- Over 5000 copies sold of the first edition
- 'Entertaining, enlightening, and uncompromisingly clear, Carter and Geczy have done for art theory what E.H. Gombrich did for the story of art. This is hands-down the most up to date, readable introduction to art theory available.'

– Benjamin Genocchio, Art critic, The New York Times

An introduction to the concepts relating to art history and theory. It traverses the various value systems within art, including commodification and concepts of display. It also offers what are perhaps the first concise definitions of installation and new media. The book attempts to demystify the 'specialness' of art, and sets out to equip the reader with tools for assessing different kinds of art.

DEALING WITH AMERICA: THE UN, THE US AND AUSTRALIA

JOHN LANGMORE

- Key September release

The United Nations is under scrutiny like never before: it is under constant attack from neoconservatives in President George W. Bush's administration, and many of its own officials are under investigation for fraud – some have been charged. In the midst of this controversy, a high-level panel, including former Australian Attorney-General Gareth Evans, has released a detailed set of proposals for reform, and that blueprint has been taken up by the Secretary-General, Kofi Annan.

HARVEST OF THE SUBURBS: AN ENVIRONMENTAL HISTORY OF GROWING FOOD IN AUSTRALIAN CITIES

ANDREA GAYNOR

Who has grown their own food in Australian suburbs? And why have they grown it? How have they gone about keeping animals and growing fruit and vegetables, and with what impacts? What can the history of food-producing spaces tell us about the diverse cultures, and values, of suburban Australia? Drawing on sources ranging from gardening books and magazines, to statistics and oral history, Harvest of the Suburbs challenges some of the widespread myths about food production in Australian cities, and traces the reasons for its enduring popularity.

SAVING TIPPY

JENNY SHEPHERD

Junior fiction (Age 7-12)

Josh is unhappy: his mum and sister are on the other side of Australia, and he's stuck with a new stepmother who wants to feed him rabbit food, and a stepsister who spends half her life in the bathroom. His dad has no time for him any more, and always seems to side with Lisa and Courtney. Tip, his new red kelpie pup, has a death sentence hanging over her head-if Josh can't train her to be a good sheepdog, she'll be shot. Little do they know that both of them will have to face even greater dangers, which will test their loyalty, love and resourcefulness to the utmost.

THE LEGEND OF MOONDYNE JOE

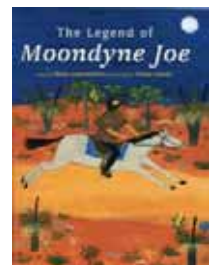

MARK GREENWOOD

- Winner, 2002 WA Premier's Book Awards
- New in paper.

Moondyne Joe was not known for blazing gunfights or robbing banks. It was the convict bushranger's amazing ability to escape every time he was placed behind bars that won him fame and the affection of the early settlers. Wearing a kangaroo-skin cape and possum-skin slippers, he roamed the wooded valleys and winding creeks at Moondyne Hills. This is the story of the greatest escape artists of Australia's convict era - the legend of Moondyne Joe.

THE GRASSHOPPER SHOE CAROLYN LEACH-PAHOLSKI

- Key September release
- To be launched at Watermark Literary Muster
- Shortlisted for both the 2001 Varuna Harper Collins Manuscript Award and the David T. K. Wong Fellowship at the University of East Anglia.
- The author is widely published. She received the Somerset Poetry Prize in 2002 and in 2004 she was awarded the Watermark Fellowship for writing on nature and place.

'The Grasshopper Shoe is an extraordinary book. Her language glitters.' —Eric Rolls

Set in southern China in the mid 1860s, this is the story of a French explorer-scientist and a young Chinese woman who meet during a cholera outbreak and fall in love. Lucien Battard sets out for the Far East on a doomed mission to disprove Darwin's theory of evolution by collecting enough exotica to prove the infinite mind of God. The story unfolds against a backdrop of cultural differences — social, historical and religious.

NO TURNING BACK: A MEMOIR TED FULTON

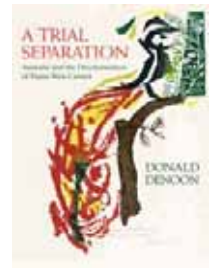

A unique account of Australia's World War II engagement in the Pacific and illustrated by arresting photographs, this laconic memoir roves across the 20th century. It is a remarkable story of travel, adventure and heroism. Ted Fulton prospected for gold, became a patrol officer and served during World War II. Ultimately finding fulfilment in the rugged beauty of Papua New Guinea — of which he writes with moving insight — the recollections of Ted Fulton are a compelling tribute to the spirit of adventure.

A M YOUNG

The family Hygrophoraceae (Agaricales) includes some of the most beautiful examples of gilled fungi. Many species are brilliantly coloured and their shapes are exquisitely symmetrical. For this reason, species are frequently noticed in the field. This authoritative account, richly illustrated with colour photographs and line drawings, documents 92 species and infra-specific taxa of the four Australian genera: Hygrophorus, Camarophyllopsis, Humidicutis and Hygrocybe. A detailed introduction to the family is followed by identification keys to genera and species, along with comprehensive descriptions of each taxon.

WOODLANDS: A DISAPPEARING LANDSCAPE

DAVID LINDENMAYER, MASON CRANE, DAMIAN MICHAEL, Photographs by ESTHER BEATON

- Text by Eureka prize winner, David Lindenmayer
- The Author is a world-recognised expert in the field of conservation biology and can be heard on a weekly radio program on the ABC – he will be promoting his new book.

Australia's little known woodlands once covered huge areas of the eastern side of our continent. They support a fascinating and diverse array of birds, mammals, reptiles, frogs, invertebrates and plants, and have been under massive pressure from grazing and agriculture over the past 200 years. This book explains with lucid text and spectacular photographs the role that woodlands play in supporting a range of native plants and animals that has existed there for millions of years. It explains the important aspects of woodland ecology as well as woodland management and conservation.

UNFINISHED CONSTITUTIONAL BUSINESS?: RETHINKING INDIGENOUS SELF-DETERMINATION

BARBARA HOCKING (ed.)

Indigenous self-determination is the recognised right of all people to freely determine their political status, and pursue their economic, social and cultural development. By looking at indigeneity and the experience of colonisation: from Australia to the Solomons, to the USA and Canada, to the Nordic Saami, the authors challenge readers to (re)consider the meanings of self-determination and their implications for community development - and to explore what self-determination might be, particularly in Australia.

CHRIS LASZLO

As a manager you have a responsibility to deliver financial returns to your shareholders: how can you balance this obligation with your responsibilities to society and the environment? This book offers an innovative approach to meeting this challenge in a language familiar to business. The key, according to the author, is to create value for investors as well as society and the environment in an integrated bottom line. The book provides detailed case studies of leading companies illustrating this new paradigm in practice. Its engaging, straightforward text tells the reader how to compete and thrive in an increasingly complex world.

TIGER BONE AND RHINO HORN: THE DESTRUCTION OF WILDLIFE FOR TRADITIONAL CHINESE MEDICINE

RICHARD ELLIS

• One of the world's most eloquent writers on extinction, explains how some of our most endangered species are being sacrificed for dubious medical treatments.

Richard Ellis, one of the world's foremost experts in wildlife extinction, brings his alarm to the pages of Tiger Bone & Rhino Horn, in the hope that through an exposure of this drug trade, something can be done to save the animals most direly threatened. Trade in animal parts for traditional Chinese medicine is a leading cause of species endangerment in Asia, and poaching is increasing at an alarming rate. As wildlife habitats are shrinking for the hunted large species, the situation is becoming ever more critical.
