

In Government We Trust

Contents

Acknowledgments

Preface

1 The state under siege

Part I Beliefs

2 'The benevolence of the butcher': self-interest vs public interest

3 The 'proper' ends of government

Part II Realities

4 Structural failure: British transport infrastructure

5 The privatisation of public profits: utilities

6 The price of an ordered society: prisons

7 Last thoughts, primary responsibilities

Notes

References

Index