

Collecting the 20th Century Table of Contents

Foreword Introduction

1900–1909

Collecting the 1900s
The architecture of the 1900s: Federation style
Collecting Arts and Crafts
Collecting Art Nouveau

1910–1919

The 1910s: collecting a world at war
The architecture of (early) George V
Collecting Anzac
Beautiful Bakelite

1920–1929

Collecting the 1920s: decadence in design
Noel Coward's 1920s' house, St Margaret's
Bay, Kent, UK
Collecting 'bathing beauties'
Radio fever

1930–1939

Collecting the 1930s
Deco City: Napier, New Zealand
Collecting plastic jewellery
Collecting Clarice Cliff

1940–1949

Collecting the 1940s
Australian War Memorial, Canberra
Collecting 1940s' fashion
Collecting World War II

1950–1959

Collecting the 1950s
Rose Seidler House
Collecting Swedish modernism
Collecting 1950s' Australian furniture

1960–1969

Swinging or dodgy? Collecting the 1960s
1960s' dreamtime: the suburbia of Howard
Arkley
Collecting Portmeirion pottery
Collecting 1960s' texture
Collecting space age

1970–1979

Collecting the 1970s
Building for lifestyle: the architecture of the 1970s
Collecting Poole Delphis
Collecting 1970s' fashion

1980–1989

Collecting the 1980s
1980s' Australia
Collecting Memphis
Collecting Swatches

1990–1999

The cool 1990s
Building for people and fun: RMIT Building 8
An Australian idol: Marc Newson
Collecting mobile phones

2000–2009

Collecting the new century
Fashions
Design
Technology
Ceramics
Ikea

Fin de siècle?

Acknowledgments

Index