Dear Editor...

The collected letters of Oscar Brittle

GLENN FOWLER, CHRISTOPHER SMYTH, GARETH MALONE

- Dear Editor is a unique concept; there hasn't been anything like it in recent times. In an 'age of beige', people are crying out for things that are a bit rebellious and a bit naughty. And people love a hoax.
- That a man who does not exist (Brittle) can have such a large number of completely absurd letters published in such a vast number of newspapers – without being found out.
- There is an enormous number of people who write to newspaper editors. They should be emboldened, jealous or at least intrigued once they have gotten wind of this book or had it given to them as a gift.

To newspaper correspondents, he is 'living in the past'; an 'arrogant toff' who needs 'a drink ... poured over his head'. To some editors, who don't have time for his 'exploits', he is too 'opinionated' or 'divisive', while others 'don't know what to make of it'. He is a man of letters, of pedigree, of unimpeachable integrity, of ideas. No issue is beyond his octopus-like intellectual grasp, be it global warming, teenage sex, nut allergies, pole dancing, corporal punishment, the perils of pesto...

Oscar Brittle is the creation of Glenn Fowler, Christopher Smyth and Gareth Malone.

In an eighteen month campaign to wrest control of the debates in the nation's newspapers and magazines from the wishy-washies and the weaklings, Oscar Brittle became (arguably) the most significant and powerful contributor to public debate in contemporary Australia. This book is a collection of published letters and their originals, published replies from various correspondents, email exchanges between Oscar and editors, as well as the rejected letters, all interspersed with gorgeous illustrations throughout.

This is a book that is not easily forgotten. Once you've read Brittle, you will never read letters pages in the same way again. The authors are still pinching themselves that the whole ruse came off. It couldn't be funnier.

HEADLONG

SUSAN VARGA

- Susan Varga is the author of Heddy and Me. This internationally renowned book won the 1994 Christina Stead Award for biography/autobiography.
- Her other books are a novel, Happy Families (Hodder Headline) and Broometime (with Anne Coombs) (Hodder Headline), a book about a small country town that created a furore in 2000
- This title will be supported by a full national media campaign, print radio and TV
- Free point of sale material will be available
- The author has had a good deal of media coverage and some controversy over previous books (Broometime). She has also had a strong media profile over the recent years for her refugee activism in Australia as a co-founder of Rural Australians for Refugees and other outlets
- The voluntary euthanasia debate continues, and in recent times there have been a number of high profile cases and charges in the media and the courts
- The writing is exquisite and captures the complications of parents and their adult children, and matters around quality of life.

Julia has suddenly lost her husband and, along with him, her will to live. The vital, energetic old woman that her daughter Kati thought she knew has disappeared almost overnight. How is Kati to cope with a mother constantly on the verge of suicide? This finely wrought tale of love and conflict casts a searchlight into dark areas – how people deal with ageing, loss, death and grief.

THE DARWIN POEMS

EMILY BALLOU

- Ballou's last two novels have had critical acclaim and good sales for Picador Australia.
- This is her first volume of poetry, but she has been publishing poetry in journals, magazines and newspapers for years.
- Title will be supported with a national media campaign, print, radio and TV

This exquisite collection of poetry, while loosely following Charles Darwin's life, is more a 'portrait' in verse of his inner and family life. In 1836, a twenty-six year old Charles Darwin stopped at Wentworth Falls en route to Bathurst, during the Beagle's short stay in Australia. The walk Darwin took through the bush, along the creek to the falls, is the same one the poet now takes, with its plaque fastened to a rock: 'Charles Darwin passed this way'. This was a young Darwin, his observations on the Beagle allowing his ideas on the origins of the species to first gestate; a highly sensitive man who loved Paradise Lost and Wordsworth's Preludes; keenly aware that geological forces of time were 'truly poetical', carrying a flower painter's colour samples around with him so that he might better describe his own collections; a man in love with the mysteries of the world, who believed that science and poetry were, after all, but a series of philosophical riddles to solve.

BIG ELEPHANTS ARE USEFUL A COMPENDIUM OF MNEMONICS & IDIOMS

S J HARTLAND

- A quirky but useful reference guide to hundreds of simple mnemonics to help you remember awkward spellings, grammatical rules and useful facts and figures
- Certain to inform, entertain and amuse
- A great gift book

Do you know why Big Elephants Are Useful To Indians For Unloading Logs?

Because it's a BEAUTIFUL way to get a tricky spelling right. Have you ever lost an argument? Or was it an argument? If you can just remember "I lost an 'e' in an argument", then you'll never get it wrong again.

Would you be upset if someone said you were 'a sandwich short of a picnic'? Or could you be described as someone who 'fell asleep in a greenhouse'?

If you want a little traditional wisdom or some cracking new insults, this book offers a treasure trove of curious, witty and downright obscure mnemonics and English idioms.

GALLIPOLI THE END OF THE MYTH

ROBIN PRIOR

- Gallipoli is an important part of our heritage with many Australians believing in the romantic myth of the campaign and the 'Anzac legend'. This book blows that myth out of the water by challenging our misconceptions of the event.
- Paul Keating has recently famously remarked that the idea of Gallipoli forging Australian identity was a myth, with nothing redeeming for the nation coming from the campaign. Many agree and many don't. This book is topical, and its controversial viewpoint will further stoke the fire of the debate surrounding the Gallipoli myth.

In Gallipoli: The End of the Myth world-renowned military historian Robin Prior takes us step by step through the campaign that cost the Allies casualties of 390,000, including some 30,000 Australian and New Zealand troops. Evaluating the strategy, the commanders, and the performance of individual soldiers on the ground, Robin Prior's conclusions are hard-hitting and painful. The naval campaign was not 'almost' won by the allies, but decisively lost. The land action was not bedevilled by minor misfortunes, but devastated by fatal miscalculation and error. Even if victorious, the campaign would not have shortened the War by a single day; nor was the downfall of Turkey of any relevance to the global objectives of World War One. The Gallipoli campaign was a bad war, misjudged, poorly thought through, and despite their bravery the allied troops died in vain.

This devastating critique of the Gallipoli campaign should mark the end of many lingering questions about the event, and shatter the persistent belief in the 'romance of war'.

WIRED BROWN LAND? TELSTRA'S BATTLE FOR BROADBAND

PAUL FLETCHER

- As Australia struggles with the question of whether to build a new national broadband network and with the Rudd Government promising to spend $4.7 billion of taxpayers' money. This book is an extremely timely contribution to a crucial public debate
- Written by an industry insider who knows and has dealt with all the key players in the broadband battles and interviewed many of them on and off the record for this book
- Filled with strong, charismatic characters like Telstra's Sol Trujillo and Phil Burgess, Telecommunications Ministers past and present Helen Coonan and Stephen Conroy and Graeme Samuel, Chair of the ACCC
- A gripping narrative of the twists and turns in a struggle for control of a multi-billion dollar industry
- The author will be prominent in the media and will increasingly become a commentator as this issue hots up even more.

'Paul Fletcher is a telecoms industry insider – uniquely placed to write a definitive account of the intense battle for the future of Australia's broadband.'

—Prof Allan Fels, Head, Australia New Zealand School of Government, Former ACCC Chairman and telecoms regulator

Describes the commercial and political battle between Telstra and everyone else to control Australia's broadband infrastructure, a struggle that escalates as the Government prepares to spend $4.7 billion on a new broadband network.

THE NEW MOON RACE

MORRIS JONES

- Includes 300 colour illustrations
- The New Moon Race describes the dramatic progress that is being made in China, Asia and the USA at present in the space race
- This is a controversial and sensitive subject
- Dr Morris Jones is an Australian spaceflight analyst and writer, whose work ranges from children's books to advanced technical reports on the search for extraterrestrial intelligence

A new space race has broken out in Asia. Few geopolitical analysts have understood this, and there is a crying need for a new book on the subject. In the past two years, spacecraft have been launched to the Moon by China, Japan, India and the USA. South Korea has suddenly announced lunar plans. China's advanced human spaceflight program is now being challenged by a planned Indian human space capsule. Regional rivalries on Earth are spilling over into space! The situation is like a repeat of the Cold War Space Race, but this time, the USA could lose.

ANDREW FISHER AN UNDERESTIMATED MAN

PETER BASTIAN

- This book gives a new perspective to a very important Australian Prime Minister who had fallen into obscurity despite his considerable achievements
- This book reveals how significant Andrew Fisher is in Australian history and his various contributions to the ALP and the Australian nation.
- Until Bob Hawke, Andrew Fisher was Australia's longest serving Labor Prime Minister
- Shows that the current Prime Minister, Treasurer and Governor-General are following in a long tradition of Queenslanders in positions of power
- There is increasing interest in Andrew Fisher as seen by the publication of David Day's 2008 biography
- Title will be supported by a full media campaign

Australians take for granted the presence of their federal government, yet it is impossible to overestimate, as this full biography reveals, the role Andrew Fisher played in its development. The book also reveals the skills with which Fisher led the ALP in its early years and his important contributions as wartime Prime Minister and as High Commissioner in London. Andrew Fisher: An Underestimated Man attempts to account for the obscurity of one of Australia's greatest reformers.

HEY MUM, WHAT'S A HALF-CASTE?

LORRAINE MCGEE-SIPPEL

- The book is honest, emotionally engaging and well-written
- 'Hey Mum, What's a Half-Caste?' was twice shortlisted for the David Unaipon Award.
- An inspiring search for identity and a celebration of finding family, culture and where you belong. Lorraine's story mirrors that of the stolen generation in which Aboriginality was denied and speaks out about the pain and triumph of years of looking for family. "My Aboriginality was denied me. That's why I grab it so fiercely now," she said.
- Title will be supported by a full media campaign, radio and TV interviews anticipated.

The raw honesty in Lorraine's words and her immeasurable generosity in baring her heart and soul will inspire readers... Through a life of heartache, confusion and unknowing, Lorraine has emerged as a woman of substance and strength.

—DR ANITA HEISS, author and cultural activist

Lorraine McGee-Sippel was just a small girl when she asked her parents what a half-caste was. It was the 1950s and the first step on a journey that would span decades and lead her to search for her birth family.

In the historic climate of the Rudd Government's Apology, McGee-Sippel aligns herself with the Stolen Generations as she reveals the far-reaching effects of a government policy that saw her adoptive parents being told their daughter was of Afro-American descent.

This is not just a story of displacement, but an honest telling that explores the fragility of reconnection, cultural identity, and the triumphs of acceptance.

ALAN VILLIERS VOYAGER OF THE WINDS

KATE LANCE

- First-ever comprehensive biography of Melbourne-born sailor, adventurer, writer and photographer Alan Villiers
- Villiers was well-known in his day and (apart from publishing over 40 books) wrote for the National Geographic, prepared stories for the BBC and became a film adviser on films like Billy Budd and Moby Dick
- Many of Villiers' photographs, films and writing – held at The National Maritime Museum in the UK and the University of Melbourne – are valuable for their rare depiction of the last days of sail on square-rigger ships
- Author Kate Lance was the winner of the Western Australian Premier's Book Award 2004 for Non-Fiction for her book Redbill: From Pearls to Peace
- The book is based on archival research in both Australia and England (incl. interviews with Villier's surviving family)
- Includes 60 black and white photos, many published here for the first time

In this first full biography of Alan Villiers, based on extensive research in both Australia and England, Kate Lance has produced a fascinating portrait of Villiers and the world he inhabited. Alan Villiers was born in Melbourne in 1903 and, from boyhood, had a passion for the sea and sailing. In 1921, after a lucky break won him a job as a journalist on the Hobart Mercury, he produced his first book based on his experience on a whaling expedition to the Antarctic, soon followed by his account of the voyage of the Herzogin Cecilie on its voyage from Australia to Great Britain. Over the next decades he sailed all over the world, including his own ship, the Joseph Conrad. Lance depicts the legendary sailor as a man of contradictions, who lived for the sea and adventure, and who is now respected and recognised as a brilliant writer, photographer, journalist and adventurer.

THROUGH WRITERS EYES

GALAPAGOS

JOHN HICKMAN

- Hickman gives us the human history of this natural haven
- Provides an intriguing and original angle from which to explore the Galapagos
- Biographical afterword, by best-selling author Katie Hickman of Daughters of Britannia fame, places the author and his daughter amongst the tapestry of the British in South America

Every year a quarter of a million well-healed, well-read travellers take the holiday of a lifetime to the Galapagos. To feed the book-buyers on this annual pilgrimage, there are a lot of beautifully illustrated guides to the fauna of the islands on the shelves, but very little about the scurrilous human adventurers who also passed this way. John Hickman presents an intriguing cast of characters, from Incas to whalers, pirates to Robinson Crusoes, the original Swiss Family Robinson and the revered Charles Darwin.

CREVASSE ROULETTE: THE FIRST TRANS-ANTARCTIC CROSSING 1957-58 JON STEPHENSON

• Includes remarkable photographs, exhibited in Sydney in September 2007 in a 50th anniversary commemoration of the TAE

• Dr Jon Stephenson taught geology for many years at the James Cook University, Townsville, where he is now an Honorary Research Associate

The British Commonwealth-sponsored Trans-Antarctic Expedition (TAE) of 1957-58, under the leadership of Dr Vivian Fuchs, completed the first overland crossing of Antarctica, via the South Pole. A pioneering and hazardous journey, and not without controversial elements, it also included scientists participating in International Geophysical Year research. Jon Stephenson was a geologist on that expedition. As well as giving his account of the Expedition, its planning and its aftermath, Stephenson supplies a history of Antarctic exploration since James Cook's voyage of 1775, an account of other Antarctic exploration and scientific study contemporaneous with TAE, and an overview of subsequent expeditions.

THE COMPLETE FIELD GUIDE TO STICK AND LEAF INSECTS OF AUSTRALIA

PAUL BROCK, JACK HASENPUSCH

- Covers all stick and leaf insects found in Australia
- Clear photos and line drawings
- Easy-to-use identification keys
- Notes on collecting and studying phasmids

Australia has a rich diversity of phasmids – otherwise known as stick and leaf insects. Most of them are endemic, few have been studied and new species continue to be found. Stick insects are, by far, Australia's longest insects – some of them reach up to 300 mm in body length, and more than 500 mm including outstretched legs. Many stick insects are very colourful, and some have quite elaborate, defensive behaviour. Increasingly they are being kept as 'pets'.

SUSTAINABLE GARDENS

ROB CROSS, ROGER SPENCER

- Presents information in a non-technical format
- Synthesises sustainability issues, information, language, facts and figures that are currently widely dispersed through a range of media and difficult to access
- Provides a context to the many ways in which we can manage our parks and gardens in a way that contributes to sustainable living
- Considers ways to think sustainably when designing, constructing and maintaining gardens and landscapes

Our gardens are a microcosm of nature; the ecological processes that go on in a garden mirror those operating on a global scale. The better we understand and quantify these cycles and processes, as they operate on both large and small scales, the more effective our management strategies will be. Sustainable Gardens introduces the reader to the historical context of the global, national and local environmental issues that confront us and examines the idea of sustainable living as a means of addressing these issues.

PLATFORM PAPERS 20: BEETHOVEN OR BRITNEY? THE GREAT DIVIDE IN MUSIC EDUCATION ROBERT WALKER

- The state of music education is of wide public concern and an issue in the federal plans for a national school curriculum
- The author has been published widely on the teaching of music
- A full press and public discussion campaign is planned
- It is part of the Platform Papers opinion-making series
- The book is pocket sized and only $14.95

School music education in Australia was described as being in crisis in the 2005 Federal Government Report. Many children have little or no access to quality music teaching. A few, mostly private, schools are centres of musical excellence, but the majority offer little but popular music. Meanwhile, children are 'educating' themselves through their iPod, internet, and mobile phone. Few are learning to play an instrument or to sing properly. Instead the majority are merely passive consumers who, when they mature and leave behind the teenage hyperbole surrounding pop music, will have no conception of music as a profound art.

ART HISTORIES IN CONTEXT

JOHN MAWURNDJUL: BETWEEN INDIGENOUS AUSTRALIA AND EUROPE

CLAUS VOLKENANDT (ed.), CHRISTIAN KAUFMANN (ed.)

- Focuses on the work of John Mawurndjul (undisputed leader of 'rarrk' painting style), whose highly prized work is found in galleries in Australia and the Quai du Branly in Paris, among others
- First international/Australian collaboration of art historians, curators and academics to consider Indigenous art in an international context
- Key Australian commentators, most whom teach relevant courses

Increasingly, Australian Indigenous art is drawing the attention of international audiences, in part because of the amazing stories the artists tell of human creativity. John Mawurndjul is an Aboriginal artist whose work is collected and displayed in art museums and galleries throughout the world. The authors here debate questions such as how art should be viewed and approached in intercultural terms.

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF AUSTRALIA

CHARLES DARWIN: AN AUSTRALIAN SELECTION NATIONAL MUSEUM OF AUSTRALIA

- Celebrating Darwin's 200th birthday and the 150th anniversary of the publication of On the Origin of Species
- A companion to the National Museum of Australia's Darwin exhibition, (10 December 2008 – 29 March 2009) which will be supported by a national marketing campaign
- Richly illustrated with images of rare prints and paintings
- Includes extracts from Darwin's Beagle diary during his Australian visit
- Includes personal reflections by Darwin experts

Charles Darwin found much in Australia to challenge and inform his thinking. This book explores the impact that Darwin's short visit to Australia in 1836 had on the man himself and on the emerging nation. Now, more than 170 years later, Darwin continues to influence Australian attitudes to life and living.

WHY NOT THE BEST SCHOOLS?: THE AUSTRALIA REPORT

EVELYN DOUGLAS, JESSICA HARRIS

The Australia Report is part of a set of six country reports that support Why not the best schools? It contains seven case studies of successful schools in Australia and examines the reasons for their success. Through interviews with principals, other school leaders and analysis of school reports, the reports examine how these schools achieved transformation and success by actively developing and building strength in four kinds of capital: intellectual, social, financial and spiritual – and aligning them to their mission through outstanding governance.

SCAFFOLDING LITERACY: AN INTEGRATED AND SEQUENTIAL APPROACH TO TEACHING READING, SPELLING & WRITING

BEVERLEY AXFORD, PAMELA HARDERS, FAY WISE

Scaffolding Literacy describes an alternative approach to literacy teaching in primary schools based on the principles of explicit teaching of how authors use words to convey meaning. The book provides a detailed description of the scaffolding literacy teaching sequence and related strategies developed at the University of Canberra over two decades. It explains why the scaffolding literacy approach enables learners to better understand the reading, language studies and writing tasks asked of them in school.

A PARENT'S GUIDE TO SCHOLARSHIP TESTS

REBECCA LEECH

Preparing, applying and sitting for a scholarship test can be gruelling and competitive process for the child and the child's parents, and the disappointment of not being awarded a scholarship can be demoralising and disappointing. The unavoidable truth is that many more students sit scholarship tests than there are scholarships available. A Parent's Guide to Scholarship Tests aims to help parents better understand scholarship tests so that they can help their child do their best when it counts.

USE OF INSTRUCTIONAL TECHNOLOGY IN SCHOOLS

MAL LEE, ARTHUR WINZENRIED

Examines teachers' use of the major instructional technologies over the last century — from the days of silent film, radio and slide shows through to the modern interactive whiteboard and the Web. It explores the reasons why so few teachers have used these technologies and why, even in today's digital world, the most commonly used classroom tools are the pen, paper and teaching board.

EMPIRES OF MUD: WARS AND WARLORDS IN AFGHANISTAN

ANTONIO GIUSTOZZI

- As the situation in Afghanistan deteriorates, readers in the West will want to know more about this country
- Explains the history of the warlord system in Afghani politics
- By the author of the recent critically acclaimed Koran, Kalashnikov and Laptop: The Neo-Taliban in Afghanistan

'Giustozzi's books and articles on Afghanistan are uniformly penetrating, and this work is no exception.'
— William Maley, Australian National University

Warlords are charismatic military leaders who exploit weak central authorities in order to gain control of sub-national areas. Notwithstanding their bad reputation, warlords have often participated in state formation. In Empires of Mud Giustozzi analyses the dynamics of warlordism in Afghanistan within the context of such debates.

EMERGING STATES: THE WELLSPRING OF A NEW WORLD ORDER

CHRISTOPHE JAFFRELOT (ed.)

- Explains the economic significance of emerging states, including India, Turkey, Brazil, South Africa and Indonesia
- Illustrated with over 100 eye-catching colour maps, graphs and tables
- Useful reference for businessmen, scholars and general readers interested in the new global economy

When we think of global powerhouses, countries such as the US, UK, Japan or Germany come to mind. But the world is in the midst of an enormous shift in international economic and political power. Countries previously labelled as 'developing' are fast becoming key players on the international stage. India, Turkey, Brazil, Mexico, Indonesia and South Africa, among others, are subtly altering our perceptions of what constitutes a 'strong' or 'weak' economy, while 'Emerging States' — a term once familiar only to economists — is entering common parlance.

GLOBAL SALAFISM: ISLAM'S NEW RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

ROEL MEIJER (ed.)

- Pioneering exploration of Salafism, a Sunni Islamic school of thought

Salafism, a Sunni school of thought, argues that Islam was complete and perfect during the days of Muhammad and his companions. Salafism focuses on the first three generations of Muslims for understanding contemporary Islam. Salafists seek to revive a practice of Islam that more closely resembles the beginnings of the religion, before undesirable innovations diluted its original core. There is a broad range of thought in the Salafist school internationally, which this book seeks to explore and explain.

MILITARY ORIENTALISM: EASTERN WAR THROUGH WESTERN EYESPATRICK PORTER

- Shatters romanticised notions about the courage 'oriental' warriors, from the Samurai to the Taliban

Military Orientalism argues that viewing culture as a script that dictates warfare is wrong, and that our obsession with the exotic can make it harder, not easier, to know the enemy. Culture is powerful, but it is an ambiguous repertoire of ideas rather than a clear code for action. To divide the world into western, Asiatic or Islamic ways of war is a delusion, one whose profound impact affects contemporary war and above all the War on Terror. Porter's fascinating book explains why the 'Oriental' warrior inspires fear, envy and wonder and how this has shaped the way Western armies fight.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY PRESSMATTHEW'S ENIGMA: A FATHER'S PORTRAIT OF HIS AUTISTIC SON*MATEI CALINESCU, Translated by ANGELA JIANU

- A personal and philosophical exploration of the meaning of autism through the eyes of the parent of an autistic child
- Presents various theories about the nature of autism in a language accessible to the lay reader
- The book's intellectual yet warm and personal approach distinguishes it from other parental accounts of autism

Matthew's Enigma unfolds the complex relationship between a father, who is a Romanian emigré and distinguished university professor, and his son, who was diagnosed with autism when he was 7 years old. Matei Calinescu's desire to understand Matthew is the theme of this moving memoir. Calinescu's determined search for the meaning of his son's enigmatic illness continues even after Matthew's sudden death at age 25. Drawing from journals that he kept, beginning with Matthew's birth, as well as from his experience as a scholar of literature and philosophy and a reader of psychologists' and brain scientists' writings about autism, Calinescu has composed an inspiring and lyrical essay about love and illness, memory and forgetfulness, sociability and alienation.

It was a chance encounter with Armistead Maupin (of Tales of the City fame) in San Francisco which inspired this series. The story revolves around the comings and goings at No. 44 Scotland Street, a fictitious building in a real street in the author's home city of Edinburgh. With its multiple-occupancy flats, Scotland Street is an interesting corner of the New Town, verging on the Bohemian, where haute bourgeoisie rub shoulders with members of the intelligentsia and students.
