TE TAU IHU O TE WAKA / A HISTORY OF MAORI OF NELSON AND MARLBOROUGH: VOLUME 1 - TE TANGATA ME TE ...

HILARY AND JOHN MITCHELL

This valuable regional history encompasses myths and legends, the succession of tribes who have inhabited Te Tau Ihu o Te Waka a Maui and their interactions and early encounters with Europeans. The authors have woven traditional oral histories together with documented accounts, quoting from whakapapa books and family records, diarists, officials and observers. The result is a richly illustrated, comprehensive and beautifully written book that captures the flavour of the region and its history.

PUTEA WHAKAIRO: MAORI AND THE WRITTEN WORD

BRADFORD HAAMI

Presents a history of Ngati Hikata through the writings of seven Maori people spanning four generations of the Maaka family. Included are genealogies, traditional histories, and personal documents written in Maori and in English that date from 1848 to 1978. Ranging from pepeha and waiata to the bleakly beautiful diaries of a mutton-birder, the documents collected in this book are a rare and intriguing window into the real lives of their authors. This valuable reference work also shows how to safeguard and share ancestors' precious work for the future.

HIKOI: FORTY YEARS OF MAORI PROTEST
AROHA HARRIS

Provides an overview of the contemporary Maori protest 'movement', a summary of the rationale behind the actions, and a wonderful collection of photographs of the action – the protests, the marches and the toil behind the scenes. And it provides a glimpse of the fruits of that protest – the Waitangi Tribunal and the opportunity to prepare, present and negotiate Treaty settlements; Maori language made an official language; Maori-medium education; Maori health providers; iwi radio and, in 2004, Maori television.

KARLO MILA

• Karlo Mila is a well known performance poet in Auckland. She presented at the 2005 Auckland Writer's and Readers festival.

'Karlo draws wisdom and compassion from her ancestral cultures but is not constrained by them. Honest and unafraid, she has spread her net wide in order to capture the many concerns that many people are grappling with as they face the realities of a globalised and impersonal world. Written with passion, persistence and sensitivity, her poems are insightful, challenging and sometimes provocative. This book should inspire others, especially women, to share their experiences with the rest of the world.' - Professor Konai Helu Thaman (Acting Deputy Vice Chancellor, and UNESCO Chair in teacher education & culture, The University of the South Pacific)

THE READING RACE: HOW EVERY CHILD CAN LEARN TO READ
DONNA AWATERE HUATA

At least one-fifth of New Zealand children are very poor readers - and that's a conservative estimate. This result can be related directly to the 'whole language' approach to reading instruction, which has dominated in schools since the 1970s. Although the best readers can adapt to its questionable methods, this system disadvantages children from poor and uneducated homes.
