DEVELOPING ANIMALS: WILDLIFE AND EARLY AMERICAN PHOTOGRAPHY MATTHEW BROWER

Developing Animals compellingly investigates the way photography changed our perception of animals. Brower analyzes how photographers created new ideas about animals as they moved from taking pictures of taxidermic specimens in so-called natural settings to the emergence of practices such as camera hunting, which made it possible to capture images of creatures in the wild. He argues that photography has been essential to the conceptual separation of humans and animals.

KING LEAR

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, JOSEPH BLACK ET AL. (ed.)

This volume includes the text of the play as prepared by Craig Walker for The Broadview Anthology of British Literature — a text notable both for outstanding introductory material and annotations, and for the inclusion of parallel text versions of key scenes for which the texts in the Quarto and Folio versions are substantially different. Appendices in this edition include excerpts from key Shakespearean source material and the happy ending from Nahum Tate's version of the play, which held the stage for 150 years after its first performance in 1681.

EDWARD II CHRISTOPHER MARLOWE, MATHEW MARTIN (ed.)

Edward II tells the story of the fourteenth-century monarch's reign, fall, and gruesome murder. Marlowe's dramatization focuses on the relationship between Edward and his male "favorite," Piers Gaveston, and indirectly engages the corrupt and convoluted politics of Marlowe's time as well as of the recent past. It is an important cultural, as well as dramatic, document from the early modern period for its treatment of sexuality and class, and is still frequently performed in North America and Europe.

YELLOW FUTURE: ORIENTAL STYLE IN HOLLYWOOD CINEMA JANE CHI HYUN PARK

Yellow Future examines the emergence and popularity of techno-oriental representations in Hollywood cinema since the 1980s, focusing on the ways East Asian peoples and places have become linked with technology to produce a collective fantasy of East Asia as the future. Jane Chi Hyun Park demonstrates how this fantasy is sustained through imagery, iconography, and performance that conflate East Asia with technology, constituting what Park calls oriental style.

BEYOND DOLBY: CINEMA IN THE DIGITAL SOUND AGEMARK KERINS

- Includes detailed analyses of Fight Club, The Matrix, Hairspray, Disturbia, The Rock, Saving Private Ryan, and Joy Ride, among other films

Since digital surround sound technology first appeared in cinemas 20 years ago, it has spread from theatres to homes and from movies to television, music, and video games. Yet even as 5.1 has become the standard for audiovisual media, its impact has gone unexamined. Drawing on works from the past two decades, as well as dozens of interviews with sound designers, mixers, and editors, Mark Kerins uncovers how 5.1 surround has affected not just sound design, but cinematography and editing as well.

Biography*THE LAST GENET: A WRITER IN REVOLT*HADRIEN LAROCHE, Translated by DAVID HOMEL

- Hadrien Laroche was born in Paris; he completed his doctorate under Jacques Derrida in 1997 and has published three French-language novels. Derrida considered Laroche "one of the most talented and original thinkers of his generation."

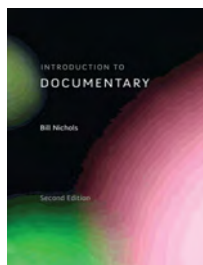

2010 is the 100th anniversary of Jean Genet's birth. The final decades (1968-1986) of his life were preoccupied with the struggles of the disenfranchised: the Black Panthers, Baader-Meinhof, and the Palestinians; Laroche's book is a careful philosophical and historical reading of these groups and Genet's relation to them.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION: CHILDRENS PICTURE BOOKS AND THE FAIRY TALE OF MODERNITY
NATHALIE OP DE BEECK

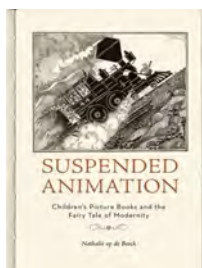

Through a combination of nostalgia and new printing technologies, picture book publishing in America became a popular enterprise between the wars.

Suspended Animation analyzes the phenomenon of American picture books and what their imaginative form and content reveal about the modern nation. Children's picture books are at once fairy tales that uphold middle-class traditions and modern commodities that teach children about their changing world.

SYDNEY JANET KAPLAN

- Explores the literary and personal lives of Murry, Mansfield and Lawrence, and their connections to other modernist figures including T. S. Eliot, Virginia Woolf, Lady Ottoline Morrell, Mark Gertler and Henri Gaudier-Brzeska

This book is centred on the personal lives of and relationship between the writers John Middleton Murry, Katherine Mansfield and D. H. Lawrence: a circle of writers who significantly influenced the development of modernism in Britain. It makes use of Murry's unpublished journals and his letters to Mansfield and Lawrence to investigate the complex intertextuality between them.

LITERATURE OF THE 1980S: AFTER THE WATERSHED VOL 9
JOSEPH BROOKER

- Detailed attention to key writers including Martin Amis, Ian McEwan, Angela Carter, Salman Rushdie, James Kelman, Grace Nichols and many more

The 1980s were a time of tumultuous transition in Britain. While the Cold War's endgame was played, the governments of Margaret Thatcher transformed the social landscape of the post-war consensus. Writers in Britain confronted the historical developments around them, while also remaking and renewing the forms of literature. This wide-ranging study details such developments across the genres of fiction, poetry and drama.

RENAISSANCE DRAMATISTS

JOHN WEBSTER, RENAISSANCE DRAMATIST
DAVID COLEMAN

- Examines the performance history of the plays, from the original stage performances to twenty-first century interpretations
- Will appeal to students of literature and drama

Transgressive and darkly brilliant, the drama of John Webster has long been recognised as one of the crowning glories of the English Renaissance. Introducing readers to both the great tragedies The Duchess of Malfi and The White Devil and the lesser-known works, the book explains why Webster has fascinated and horrified generations of critics and theatregoers, and argues that the relevance and resonance of Webster's drama continues to grow.

CLARISSA: ABRIDGED EDITION

SAMUEL RICHARDSON, TONI BOWERS (ed.), JOHN RICHETTI (ed.)

This classic novel tells the story, in letters, of the beautiful and virtuous Clarissa Harlowe's pursuit and abduction by the rake Robert Lovelace. The epistolary structure allows Richardson to create layered and fully realized characters, as well as an intriguing uncertainty about the reliability of the various 'narrators'. As a heroine, Clarissa is both rational and passionate, self-sacrificing and defiant, and her tragic story has gripped readers since the novel's first publication.

- Book is organized by behavior for fast and easy navigation
- Small size allows book to be easily stored in a purse or a desk drawer
- Helpful index included

Each year there is a growing emphasis on the inclusion of students with special needs into the general education population. Some students may come with a diagnosis: Learning Disability, Autism, Asperger's Syndrome, or ADHD. Others may not, leaving teachers unsure how to teach them. This book is a tool for teachers who have a student or students in their classroom whose behaviors are impeding their learning. If they see a particular behavior, they can quickly look up an in-the-moment solution, and then read more about what could be causing that behavior. A must-have for every inclusive classroom!

WHO SPEAKS FOR MARGARET GARNER?

MARK REINHARDT

A fascinating documentary history of the fugitive slave case that captivated the nation—and inspired Toni Morrison's acclaimed novel Beloved. In January 1856, Margaret Garner and her family were at the center of one of the most dramatic and intensely contested fugitive slave cases in American history. Immersing readers in a wealth of fascinating documentary evidence, this book offers an exploration of such contentious issues as slavery and freedom, race and gender, party and region, and law and politics.

THE RIGHTS OF MAN

THOMAS PAINE, CLAIRE GROGAN (ed.)

Advocating equality, meritocracy, and social responsibility in plain language, Paine galvanized tens of thousands of readers and changed the framework of political discourse. This edition situates Rights of Man within the discussion of the French Revolution in Britain and enables readers to understand the broader political debates of the 1790s. Appendices include responses to the French Revolution, Paine's response to the Proclamation that declared his writing seditious, contemporary political philosophy by Richard Price and Edmund Burke, and cartoons satirizing Paine.

DELEUZE AND POLITICAL ACTIVISM VOLUME 4:2010 (SUPPLEMENT)

MARCELO SVIRSKY (ed.)

When Deleuze and Guattari wrote Anti-Oedipus they hoped it would be a call to arms for dissidents and political activists. Rather than set out a program of change, they tried to isolate the political, cultural and economic factors that inhibit change. In this volume, both critical theorists and activists analyse Deleuze and Guattari's critical tools on radical politics. The essays integrate theoretical elaborations and case-study problematisations on different political spaces and times, offering new ways to reflect on, and experiment with transformative politics.

This book demonstrates an integrated model of clinical psychology practice where disorders are understood as the outcome of multiple interacting factors across different levels of analysis; biological, psychological and psycho-social. Using real-life case studies with expert analysis and interpretation by leading clinical psychologists and educators, the chapters presented in this book show how the planning of intervention needs to be informed by the available evidence. This integrated model allows interventions to be individually tailored rather than offered as a 'one size fits all' approach, placing greater emphasis on rigorous assessment as one of the core clinical skills and distinguishing features of a clinical psychologist.

POLITICAL SPACES AND GLOBAL WAR

CARLO GALLI, ADAM SITSE (ed.), Translated by ELIZABETH FAY

Political theorists have long debated whether globalization marks a novel form of political and economic order or is simply a reconfiguration of older capitalist and imperialist imperatives. Carlo Galli contends that it is neither; rather, globalization is the development, in a new and destructive direction, of the unstable and precarious equilibrium that constituted modern political space from its very inception.

CONTOURS OF AMERICA'S COLD WAR

MATTHEW FARISH

In The Contours of America's Cold War, Matthew Farish explores new ways of conceptualizing space as part of post-World War II American militarism. He demonstrates how the social sciences were militarized in the early Cold War period, producing spatial knowledge that was of immediate use to the state as it sought to expand its reach across the globe.

CLIMATE CHANGE ADAPTATION AND INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

RYO FUJIKARA (ed.), MASATO KAWANISHI (ed.)

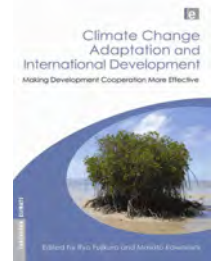

- Case studies from 10 countries across Africa and Asia, including top-notch climate forecasting data

Climate change impacts upon the world's poorest most heavily. It is therefore essential that international development initiatives focus on improving the ability of developing countries to adapt to the effects of climate change. This book, a product of research by the Research Institute of the Japan International Cooperation Agency, examines climate change adaptation from the perspective of development cooperation in order to provide useful lessons for those engaged in research, policy and practice in this vital area.

EARTHSCAN READER SERIES

NGO MANAGEMENT: THE EARTHSCAN COMPANION
ALAN FOWLER (ed.), CHIKU MALUNGA (ed.)

- Includes landmark papers published across academic journals, NGO literature and specially commissioned pieces

The task environment of NGOs is changing rapidly and significantly making new demands on their management and leadership. This Companion discusses the complexities involved. It illustrates how NGOs can maintain performance and remain agile amidst increasing uncertainties. These factors include the position of NGOs in civil society, their involvement in governance and coping with the effects of the securitisation of international aid.

Agriculture & Other Primary Industries*FEEDPADS FOR GRAZING DAIRY COWS
JOHN MORAN, SCOTT MCDONALD

This book is the first detailed and comprehensive guide to the use of feedpads in the dairy industry, from planning and construction to day-to-day management, written especially for farmers. With ongoing droughts and access to water driving up the cost of conserved forages and feeding concentrates, feedpads offer flexible and efficient systems to maximise returns on feeding expensive supplements to grazing dairy cows, and form part of the risk management strategy for dairy farms.

FOOD SECURITY AND GLOBAL ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGEJOHN INGRAM (ed.), POLLY ERICKSEN (ed.), DIANA LIVERMAN (ed.)

Global environmental change represents an immediate and unprecedented threat to the food security of hundreds of millions of people, especially those who depend on small-scale agriculture for their livelihoods. As this book shows, at the same time, agriculture and related activities also contribute to climate change, by intensifying greenhouse gas emissions and altering the land surface. Responses aimed at adapting to climate change may have negative consequences for food security, just as measures taken to increase food security may exacerbate climate or other environmental change.

CROP WILD RELATIVES: A MANUAL OF IN SITU CONSERVATIONDANNY HUNTER (ed.), VERNON HEYWOOD (ed.)

Crop wild relatives (CWR) are plant species which are more or less closely related to crops. They are a vital resource by providing a pool of genetic variation that can be used in breeding new and better adapted varieties of crops that are resistant to stress, disease, drought and other factors.

However, CWR themselves are vulnerable to changing climate. Recent research co-ordinated by Bioversity International has produced a wealth of information on good practices and lessons learned for their effective conservation. This book captures the important practical experiences of countries participating in this work and describes them for the wider conservation community.

ECONOMICS OF MANAGING CROP DIVERSITY ON-FARM: CASE STUDIES FROM THE GENETIC RESOURCES POLICY INIT...

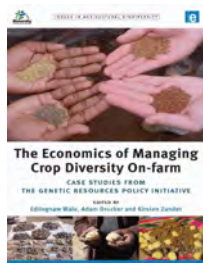

EDILEGNAW WALE ET AL (ed.)

The purpose of this book is to assess a variety of economic issues as they relate to agro-biodiversity in a range of countries and show how addressing these issues can assist in agro-biodiversity policy-making. These are illustrated using empirical data from some of the countries which are part of the Genetic Resources Policy Initiative (Ethiopia, Nepal and Zambia) and applying the relevant economic methods of regression analysis, choice experiments, hedonic pricing, contingent ranking, contingent valuation and farm business income analysis.

FLOODPLAIN WETLAND BIOTA IN THE MURRAY-DARLING BASIN: WATER AND HABITAT REQUIREMENTS

KERRYLEE ROGERS (ed.), TIM RALPH (ed.)

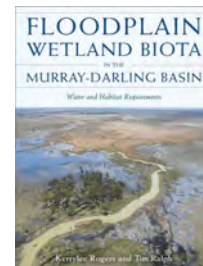

- Provides an overview of floodplain wetlands in the Murray-Darling Basin and their key freshwater biota (flora and fauna)
- Includes information on water and habitat requirements in the form of succinct species profiles

Floodplain wetlands of the Murray-Darling Basin provide critical habitat for numerous species of flora and fauna, yet the ecology of these wetlands is threatened by a range of environmental issues. This book addresses the urgent need for an improved ecohydrological understanding of the biota of Australian freshwater wetlands.

MUSHROOMS IN FORESTS AND WOODLANDS: RESOURCE MANAGEMENT, VALUES AND LOCAL LIVELIHOODS

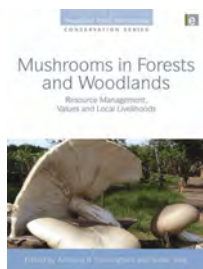

ANTHONY B. CUNNINGHAM (ed.), XUEFEI YANG (ed.)

Many mushrooms are extremely valuable, wild-gathered products which are utilised for both their medicinal properties and as food. In many of the world's tropical and temperate forests, they are the primary source of income for the people who live there. Despite the economic, social and cultural values of fungi, there is a general lack of understanding of their importance to local livelihoods and forest ecology. This book aims to fill this gap.
